

Reacting to Anni Albers

Deadline to apply: February 28, 2017

My name is Sloane Kochman and I am a MA student in the History of Art and Architecture Department. I am organizing a show to accompany my thesis research on the pedagogical work of Anni Albers. I am asking artists to look at and create a piece reacting to one of five tasks Albers assigned her students while working in the Weaving Workshop at Black Mountain College. Inspiration can be drawn from the task itself, the language of the assignment, or the handling of material. Even though Anni

Albers was a textile artist I am looking to create a show comprised of a variety of mediums. This collaborative show, tentatively titled "Reacting to Anni Albers," is scheduled to take place May 22-26. If you are interested in participating, please email a brief note introducing yourself, your art (include 2-3 images), and your interest in my exhibition to skochman@uoregon.edu no later than Feb. 28, 2017.
